

Cookie Policy

What are Cookies?

Cookies are used on almost all websites to help improve the user's experience. Simply put, Cookies are small files that are stored on your computer or laptop. They can be accessed by the web server or the user's computer. As mentioned they are used to enhance your experience whilst visiting our website, for example a page can be tailored to the users specific needs based on how the user browses the page.

How do we use Cookies?

We use the information gathered from Cookies to make amvsystems.ie better for you. They help us to identify problems, fix errors and to improve how we display our pages to you. The information we store only lasts for the length of time the user is on our website. We use Google Analytics to understand how users' experience our website. Personally identifiable information is not stored at any time.

Re-Marketing

From time to time we may use Cookies for re-marketing purposes. The Cookies may be put in place by carefully selected Web Developers or Third party agencies. Where re-marketing occurs, the Cookie collects information from the user's activity on our website. In this instance, the information collected informs the placement of adverts relating to the page visited on our website and may appear on other websites that the user visits for a short period of time. Personal information is not collected at any time during the advertising process, unless the user decides to complete a Contact Form.

Disabling Cookies

You may prefer to disable Cookies on this website. The most effective way to do this is to disable Cookies in your browser. Please visit your Browser's Help Section or visit the "About Cookies" website which offers guidance for all modern browsers.
